

We assume that a stage needs to be erected, toilet facilities provided, lighting etc., all of which will need to be in place before any concert can be held and then removed after the event, meaning that the area would be affected for days before, during and after such.

We conclude by asking the question "Is it fair that we, our neighbours and the wildlife should be subjected to the noise and disruption created by the granting of such a licence whether we like it or not"?

Yours faithfully
