Good Evening

We moved into the area around [REDACTED]. The cul de sac we live in is perfect and the people incredibly lovely. However the one issue we consistently have is the eight farmers.

There is a strong smell of Marijuana on many occasions which is completely unpleasant.

Many weekend afternoons the noise from the pub is incredibly loud with lots of drunk people shouting at each other and the sound of glasses smashing, which is not pleasant when you are trying to sit out in your garden and enjoy your day.

In early hours of the morning there are many occasions where loud music is being played from cars sat on the car park, there are also people still screaming and shouting way after closing hours.

It's hard to sleep at night because it causes anxiety with the actions people are doing.

I don't feel safe to be around this pub at anytime of day.

On half terms they have a fun fair on the car park The music is incredibly loud, the noise levels due to the screams on the rides is unbearable, people park all around the roads and cul de sac causing issues just to get back home.

There is always trouble once it shuts down for the night with youths staying there to drink.

We have had people once they have left the pub after drinking hours walking back down Parker's road and throw items into our back garden over the fence, this nearly hit myself, there has been occasion it has hit my rabbits cage and scared them and this is not acceptable.

The language which is used by people at the pub is disgusting and unacceptable, we hear them swearing very clearly and we live on an estate which has many young families with small children.

The pub and car park is a constant hive for anti social behavior.

My [REDACTED] attended the pub on the first day of opening after lockdown, they were not asked to provide details when they entered or ordered Incase of the need of track and trace, there was no social distancing happening, people were all stood together propping up the bar drinking and talking. Staff made no effort to try to enforce any sort of social distancing. The police were called as people began to fight and smash glasses and bottles to strike each other with, she felt she had no way to escape and had to jump over the picket fence in order to get away from the chaos.

Therefore I feel that it would not be acceptable to grant the variation as this would cause more distress and upset for the residents in the local area.

It deeply saddens me that we have such a perfect house in a great area with fantastic people however the eight farmers pub ruins all of this.
